? shad7x: what kind of resources are you concerned about? idk like i know that the s3 and blackmagic ram is expensive but idk if its worth it i mean i can always buy cheap ram and sorta combine them but i don't know if itll work i think you have to use atx or something it's not the ram that costs $100, it's the board that it's on ahhhh I think if you're trying to just get something cheap, just picking up a bunch of 4GB sticks from amazon is probably cheaper than buying the motherboard lol ok then idk also i have a card but its a geforce 210 I'd suggest looking into shad7x: that would be a new GPU so it would be a slightly different situation, but the card is likely similarly cheap to compare err, one is likely similarly expensive no, not a GPU, a GPU > $100 no anyway, yeah I'd go with the partpicker. my card would be the xbox 360 it has a hdmi port and a vga port shad7x: sure, but a GPU > $100 no, that's not what I said anyway, offtopic oh well my gpu was just like $75 so its about the same like it just came with the xbox and whatever the "xbox 360 emulator" is a piece of software that uses 82157476af
